

After Copenhagen: The Science and Policy of Climate Change

Sunday, March 7, 2:00 – 4:30
Congregation Beth Elohim
271 Garfield Place

FOR ADULTS:

A panel discussion with the authors of Climate Change: Picturing the Science

Gavin Schmidt, climate scientist at the NASA Goddard Institute for Space Studies, and co-founder of and contributing editor of RealClimate.org

Joshua Wolfe, founder of GHG Photos, a leading photography agency focusing on climate change.

Frank Zeman, engineer and director of the Center for Metropolitan Sustainability at the New York Institute of Technology.

Followed by a policy update by:

Sean Sweeney, director of Cornell University's Global Labor Institute, has attended all recent UN Climate Talks and is co-author of the UN's 2008 study, "Green Jobs: Towards Sustainable Work in a Low Carbon World."

FREE AND OPEN TO ALL**

FOR KIDS AND TEENS:

(While parents attend the panel discussion)

Free Childcare with Fun Eco- Activities for Kids!

St. Ann's science teacher Liz Vellkonja presents a surprise science lesson (ages 9-11).

RePlayGround's Tiffany Threadgould guides the kids on how to make fun objects from scrap materials (ages 5-8)

The Brooklyn Food Coalition is planning a special activity for small children (2-4).

Special Presentation for Teens!

Alliance for Climate Education offers a multimedia presentation on climate change involving animation, live narration, video, and music, geared specifically for teens 12 and up.

Reserve a space for kids' or teens' activities. Contact Judy Schneier with the name and age of your child at parentsforclimateprotection@gmail.com or call 347 451 6498 by March 1.